The G20 Seoul Development Consensus: Analysis, Evaluation, Legitimacy

2 December 2014
Convention centre ‘Het Pand’
Onderbergen 1, Ghent - Belgium

08:30-09:00 Welcome & Registration
09:00-09:10 Welcome by Dries Lesage, Ghent University
09:10-09:30 Introduction by Stewart-Shaw Mills, G20 Development Working Group, European Commission

09:30-10:45 Panel 1 - Architecture
- Introduction to the G20 Seoul Development Consensus and follow-up - Wonhyuk Lim, Korean Development Institute
- G20 and G7/G8 - John Kirton, University of Toronto
- G20 governance, development & civil society - John Ruthrauff, InterAction

10:45-11:00 Coffee

11:00-12:15 Panel 2 – Old and new donors
- Visions of established and new donors - Fahim Quadir, York University
- Indian perspective on G20 and development - Gulshan Sachdeva, Jawaharlal Nehru University

12:15-13:30 Lunch

13:30-15:00 Panel 3 – Themes
- Infrastructure and private investment - John Ruthrauff, InterAction
- International tax fairness and domestic resource mobilization - Tove Maria Ryding, Eurodad
- Food & Agriculture - Thierry Kesteloot, Oxfam
- Macro-economy - Zhenbo Hou, Overseas Development Institute

15:00-15:15 Coffee

15:15-16:15 Panel 4 – Legitimacy
- The G20 and regional organizations: lessons from the EU - Peter Debaere, Ghent University
- The G20 and the UN post-2015: legitimacy issues - Dries Lesage, Ghent University

16:45-17:00 Concluding remarks, Jan Wouters, Leuven University

19:00 Diner for panelists

Participation is free of charge, but as places are limited, registration is required with peter.debaere@ugent.be. Seats will be accorded on a first come, first serve basis.